Monarchs Edge Rangers

Tuesday night the Marysville Monarchs defeated Hamilton Township, 69-66. Mike Griffith led the scoring for the Monarchs with 21 points. He was followed by Dave Boyd, who had 14.

After the game Coach Warren Widner said, "We played the way I thought we could. We went to the boards well, getting 35 rebounds. It was a team victory, everyone played well. It was an even game. We shot 49 per cent from the field and they shot 45 per cent. We made 13 foul shots out of 18 tries, and they made 12 out of 18."

The next game for the Monarchs is Friday at home against Franklin Heights. According to Widner, "If we play them like we did Hamilton Township, we can win." This loss for Hamilton Township was only its third of the year.

Grimsley's Sports World

NEW YORK (AP) — The capture of Arthur Ashe by a pretty freelance photographer takes another of sport's eligible bachelors out of circulation Sunday, leaving Broadway Joe Namath as chief of a vanishing breed.

Ashe, 33, former Wimbledon tennis champion and long a resistor of the wedding march, finally was brought to heel by Jeanne Marie Moutoussamy, who will become his bride Sunday. They will be married by U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, who is a minister.

"There aren't too many eligible bachelors left," a TV model remarked after reading the latest news. "They are going fast."

"Must be the big contracts."

One of the younger set, 20-year-old Bjorn Borg of Sweden, recently signed for $1.5 million with the Cleveland Nets of World Team Tennis and took himself off the Sadie Hawkins market by declaring that he was bringing along a fiancée, Mariana Simionescu of Romania.

It was a day of mourning for the yelling, tugging teenyboppers of the tennis world.

Meanwhile, an informal poll of some of the nation's most attractive bachelorettes — magazine cover girls, television models and actresses — revealed that the No. 1 marriage target now is Namath, the swarthy football quarterback who doubles as a screen lover and TV star for popcorn and pantyhose.

"Most of the girls agree that Broadway Joe would be a terrific catch," said Gene Barakat of New Zealand, who represents the television department for Ford Models, Inc.

"As a carryover from their school days, they still love a football hero. Joe has a strong masculine appeal plus a boyish bashfulness which the girls all love. He also is extremely rich."

Here's the scorecard on the top remaining sports bachelors, with credentials, as chosen by the models:

—Joe Namath, 33, Jets quarterback, last salary $450,000 a year, makes more than twice that much in TV appearances. Likes popcorn. Has bad knees.

—Jimmy Connors, 25, tennis champion, made more than $600,000 last year. Hot temper. Dominated by mother. Present girl friend, Miss World, Margie Wallace.

—Walt Frazier, 31, basketball star for New York Knicks, $400,000 a year. Expensive tastes, fetish for rainbow attire, mink coats and flashy cars. Should be good for dunking doughnuts.

—Dave Kingman, 28, baseball player. Tall, handsome type. Hits long ball. Best await developments. Asking more than $2 million and may be unemployed. Also, like Garbo, wants to be left alone.

—Bruce Lietzke, 25, pro golfer. Has banked $123,000 plus change this year and still going. Eager. "Remember, I'm a bachelor," he said after winning one of his two tournaments this year.

Then there's 16-year-old Steve Cauten, who is wowing 'em on the race track. Give him time to finish his Wheaties.

Dublin Ends Game With Only Three Players

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dublin almost embarrassed New Albany in high school basketball this week, finishing with only three players against five and losing by two points.

Officials called five personal fouls each on six Dublin players, leaving the Shamrocks with only three performers in the last 47 seconds.

In the last 20 seconds of the game, Dublin mustered two baskets, but lost 83-81. A total of 85 personals was called, leading to 85 free throws. New Albany sank 37 of 50 and Dublin 21 of 36 at the line.

Around Ohio: Dennis Nau, a 6-foot-1 senior, has broken the Cambridge career scoring record held by his brother, 1967 All-Ohioan John Nau. Dennis has 1,024 points to 1,010 for his brother, a Marietta lawyer. Dennis' twin sister, Denise, also is a star on the Cambridge girls varsity. Three other brothers also played basketball at Cambridge.

Tom Miziker, a 6-3 senior from Guernsey Catholic, has scored 30 or more points in three of his last four games for a 26.8 average. He's started since he was a freshman.

Jerry Prestier's 43 points against Akron Hoban established a Canton Central Catholic one-game record. Dan O'Bravac, former University of Dayton performer, held the old mark of 42.

Delbert Fry, Yellow Spring's first-year coach, considers his 11-3 team a contender for the Class A state tournament title. "I don't see many Class A teams that are going to stop us," said Fry following a 66-60 victory over AA Springfield Catholic.

Portsmouth West, with a 60-53 verdict, halted Wheelersburg's regular season winning spell at 44 games. Portsmouth becomes an AA school for the first time in history next fall. Portsmouth East's losing streak is up to 17 games.

Richmond Dale South-eastern's junior high, freshmen, reserve and varsity teams had a combined 41-7 mark through last week. Picketon, 9-5, is one victory away from its first winning season in more than a decade.

Henderson "Hecky" Thompson, Latham Western's pipe-smoking mentor, now has 225 victories in 16 seasons. He's an uncle of Ohio State football linebacker Ed Thompson.

Candy Pfeifer, a 5-5 senior from unbeaten Waverly, has become the first girl in Pike County to score more than 1,000 points. Cindy Noble, Frankfort Adena's 6-4 star, is one point shy of that coveted mark, a Ross County first for girls.

Marietta beat Newark 72-71, ending the Wildcats' 37-game home winning streak on Joe Weber's goal at the buzzer. Marietta had not won at Newark in 14 years.

At Girard, Gary Monaco had scored only 11 points in 13 games. He came up with 10 in a victory over Warren Kennedy. Sebring has won a fifth straight Tri-County crown.

Toledo DeVilliss, 12-3, has won 11 straight games, including six in nine days. DeVilliss' early losses were by one, two and three points. Lebanon is seeded first in the Oxford AAA District for the first time in history.

Detroit Titans Stun Warriors

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

It looks as though Dick Vitale will have to find a new idol ... and Marquette may have to find a new tournament.

Vitale, who often has said that Marquette Coach Al McGuire was his idol, finally came out on top in their fourth and final meeting Wednesday night — this is McGuire's last season of coaching — as his 18th-ranked University of Detroit Titans knocked off ninth-ranked Marquette 64-63 on Dennis Boyd's last-second 20-foot jump shot.

The triumph was Detroit's 21st in a row and probably cemented an NCAA tournament berth for the Titans, who are 22-1 over-all but have not been to a postseason tourney in 12 years. Meanwhile, the home court loss may have ended Marquette's string of six consecutive NCAA appearances.

"I'm a little depressed about not making the tournament," sighed McGuire, who said before the game that a defeat probably would cost Marquette, now 16-5, an NCAA bid. "We were 1-2-3 in the polls before the season. I guess I've done a lousy job."

It also was a night to forget for two other members of The Associated Press Top Twenty. Dave Koesters' career-high 28 points led Virginia to a 71-66 Atlantic Coast Conference upset of 18th-ranked Clemson, while William & Mary stunned No. 19 VMI 86-84 when the losers'

Dave Montgomery was called for goaltending on John Lowenhaupt's layup at the buzzer, ending the Keydets' 21-game winning streak.

Elsewhere, seventh-ranked Wake Forest needed freshman Frank Johnson's last-second 20-foot jumper to nip Davidson 70-68, No. 10 Cincinnati downed cross-town rival Xavier 77-68 behind Steve Collier's 23 points, and Olympian Walter Davis led a balanced North Carolina attack with 20 points as the 13th-ranked Tar Heels smashed South Florida 100-65.

Boyd not only scored the winning shot for Detroit against Marquette but stole the ball from the Warriors' Bo Ellis with 36 seconds left to set it up.

Ellis topped all scorers with 21 points for Marquette, which led 20-10 in the first half. John Long had 20 for Detroit after managing just one basket in the first half.

Davidson, which has won only five games all season, threw a colossal scare into Wake Forest as sophomore John Gordy poured in 40 points on 18-of-24 shooting, including a three-point play that tied the score 68-68 with 17 seconds left. Skip Brown paced the winners with 21.

Cincinnati just had too much of everything for Xavier, as all five starters hit double figures.

North Carolina breezed to a 12-0 lead against South Florida and Coach Dean Smith cleared his bench in the second half. The Tar Heels face the Golden Brahmans again tonight.

Koesters hit 12 of 17 shots for Virginia as the Cavaliers upset Wake Forest for their first ACC triumph. Billy Langlosh added 14 points.

VMI suffered its heart-breaking Southern Conference defeat after battling back from a 69-56 deficit with 8:45 to go. George Borjovich tied the score with six seconds left, but Montgomery, the game's high scorer with 24 points, was called for goaltending when the officials ruled he blocked Lowenhaupt's shot on the way down.

Missouri and Kansas State remained tied for the Big Eight lead. The Tigers opened a 44-31 halftime lead, then hit 68 per cent from the floor in the second half, plus 23 of 24 free throws, routing Colorado 101-74. Meanwhile, Kansas State downed Oklahoma State 74-67 as Mike Evans and Larry Dasse connected on a combined 18 of 25 shots.

Elsewhere, Connecticut held 19-4 Holy Cross without a field goal for nine of the final 10 minutes and upset the Crusaders 89-85; Army, 17-6, turned back Iowa 62-56; St. Bonaventure, 15-5, rolled over 16-4 Gannon 91-65; Rutgers, 15-7, downed George Washington 112-90 as Abdel Anderson, Ed Jordan and James Bailey combined for 76 points; Temple defeated 16-6 Villanova 73-66 as Walt Montford and Marty Stahurski split 40 points, and Kenny Carr's 27 points led North Carolina State over Duke 92-74 in an ACC game.

Athletes Set New Fashion Trends

CINCINNATI (AP) — The professional athlete, by shifting from casual attire to three-piece suits, has become a trend-setter in national fashion, according to an Italian-born tailor whose clientele includes Pete Rose and Joe Morgan of the World Champion Cincinnati Reds.

"The athlete has a very positive effect on the public. People see him on television and want to dress like him," said clothier Peppe Ramundo.

"Not too many years ago the athlete was a more casual dresser. Now he's a leader in fashion," Ramundo said.

"People admire a well-dressed man," said Ramundo, one of Cincinnati's exclusive clothing designers.

He keeps the sports stars and local television personalities abreast of prevailing tastes in new threads.

"They want a touch of elegance and individual expression, not something that you see everybody on the streets wearing. They are very particular," said the mustachioed native of Fuscaldo, Italy.

"Baseball players like the European look, with bright, colorful clothes. Football players are built differently and want the slim look stressed," he said.

For Ramundo, his garment making profession is a continuation of a family trade. "My uncle began teaching me when I was eight. And I have passed it along to my son, Carmen," he said.

He moved to Cincinnati in 1950, working as an employee for a major clothing firm, before opening his own shop five years ago.

Rose, the Reds' all-time hitter, was among his first customers.

"He bought four suits and has been one of my best customers ever since," said Ramundo.

"Pete likes clothes that match his personality. He likes tight fitting clothes, like they are painted on. Joe Morgan goes for the velvet look."

Ramundo's growing reputation has brought him new business from many segments of society.

His list of clients include more than 30 pro sports stars, television celebrity Bob Braun, showgirl Patty Pavarnik of the Dean Martin's "Goldiggers" and "a number of Las Vegas performers."

The hottest trend today is the three-piece suit. "Wool fabrics and pinstripes are in and knits are out," he said.

The average suit consists of about four yards of cloth and can cost up to $200.

His tallest order came from Bob Brown, a 6-foot-5, 295-pound defensive tackle for the Cincinnati Bengals.

"He has a 48-inch chest, 50-inch seat, 43-inch waist and an extra large 18½ neck. Everytime I see him coming, I get out a whole bolt of cloth," laughed Ramundo.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds gave up minor league outfielder Dave Schneck Wednesday in exchange for outfielder-first baseman John Summers of the Chicago Cubs, a club spokesman said.

Schneck, 27, hit .251 at Indianapolis last year. Summers, 26, played in 83 games for the Cubs last year, hitting .206 in 126 at-bats.

A Reds' spokesman said Summers has been assigned to the Indianapolis roster, but also invited to spring training as a nonroster player. Schneck will be assigned to the Cubs' Wichita farm team.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Funeral services for Diomedes Olivo, a relief pitcher who made his major league debut at the age of 39, were held Wednesday.

The former Pittsburgh and St. Louis hurler died Tuesday at the Santo Domingo Hospital Center following a heart attack.

Olivo, 56, was undersecretary of state for sports of the Dominican Republic.

Among his survivors is a brother, Chi Chi Olivo, who also pitched in the major leagues.

Baron Players To Meet Today

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — With rebellion in the air, the Cleveland Barons were expected to meet today to talk over avenues open to them in the wake of the latest blow to the wobbly National Hockey League franchise.

Angry, confused and frustrated, several of the Barons were open in their contempt for Cleveland majority owner Mel Swig and the situation in which they find themselves.

"Some of them are mad," explained Barons player representative and team captain Bob Stewart after Cleveland's 5-3 loss to Toronto Wednesday night.

"They are all very frustrated and disappointed at the way things have been done. We don't know any more now than we did two weeks ago," he added. "These are not very nice circumstances to be under."

The latest trauma to befall the Barons came Wednesday afternoon when Swig, with money apparently advanced the Cleveland franchise from NHL television and Canada Cup revenues, paid 27 players salary due them from Feb. 1.

That just added to the frustration, though, since:

—Team unity suffered because the three Barons players (Phil Roberto, Frank Spring and Glenn Patrick) and 13 minor league players at Salt Lake City who remained unpaid become free agents at midnight tonight.

—Two more weeks of uncertainty were almost assured when the payroll due Tuesday was not paid, giving the players remaining under contract the option again of requesting the league make them free agents if the money is not forthcoming within 14 days.

"It's no fun any more," said a distraught Mike Christie after the Toronto game. "He (Swig) has all the cards. We can't quit or we get suspended. We're like a bunch of cattle."

Fellow Cleveland defenseman Len Frig was even more outspoken, saying, "I've been with this so-called organization for three years and it keeps telling us everything is going to get better.

"For three years, it's been getting worse. It's as though they are going to make us stand up and rebel," he added. "I don't know, we might not play Friday night (here against the Colorado Rockies).

"Maybe if we do something as a collective group, we can get something done immediately," Frig said angrily. "I think we've been good about this whole thing. We've given the fans their money's worth."

The 4,308 fans who showed up at the Coliseum Wednesday night seemed to agree with that, giving the Barons a standing ovation when they first appeared on the ice and displaying some signs of the times, including:

"Go Home Swig," "We still love our Barons," "Sell Me!" and "Thank us Swig—not yourself."

Swig kept a low profile, watching the game from a loge in the upper reaches of the building and declining to make any statement.
